

Shelf Fillers

Shelf Fillers work in stores and supermarkets where they fill up shelves and display areas with stock. They may also be required to price goods or help customers with finding specific items.

Scan the QR code to the right for a Job Outlook career profile with more information

How do employers recruit? How can job seekers find a job?

Company websites and Internet job boards are the most common way to find Shelf Filler positions

Employers often hire applicants who approach them and make a good first impression

- ⇒ Wear neat clothing
- ⇒ Be friendly and confident
- ⇒ Know when you are available to work

Ask friends and family working in the industry about any jobs — word of mouth is a very common recruitment method.

Employers prefer applicants who...

Have good availability and can work flexible hours

Are fast and efficient

Are well-presented

What personal qualities are important?

Hard working

Friendly and outgoing

Willing to learn

Punctual

“Focus on the positives that you can do, not what you can’t do or won’t do.”
— Supermarket manager

Opportunities for new job seekers

Job seekers without any experience are often hired as Shelf Fillers.

- They often move on to other roles within the business, such as...
- ⇒ Cashiers
 - ⇒ Deli servers
 - ⇒ Supervisors

Advice from employers

“Come in and ask for a supervisor. Look them in the eye and engage with them.”

“Be eager for the job. Ask us questions about the company — it shows that you’re interested.”

“Be personable and able to meet and greet customers.”