

Trysten's good news story

Trysten Trajkovic, 19, landed a PaTH internship with Frizelle's Automotive after being in Transition to Work (TtW) for over 12 months. Just two weeks into his four-week internship Trysten was offered a full-time automotive mechanic apprenticeship. He is now a second-year apprentice and has managed to buy his dream car. Trysten said the internship changed his life.

Trysten is just one of the many success stories who is now in secure, ongoing employment, thanks to a great partnership between Transition to Work provider, ETC and Frizelle's Automotive Group.

Frizelle's Automotive, one of the largest motor vehicle dealers in Queensland, has been using the Youth Jobs PaTH program to find suitable employees since 2019.

They have hosted almost 60 young people through the PaTH Internships program, employing them for a range of ongoing roles including car detailing, spray painting and automotive mechanics. They have also used PaTH Internships to trial young people for a range of Australian Apprenticeships.

A PaTH Internship is a great pathway to an apprenticeship as it allows an employer to see if a young person has the right skills and aptitude for the apprenticeship before taking the next step. It also allows the young person to try out an industry to see if it's right for them.

Frizelle's Automotive Group has employed every young person who has successfully completed their PaTH Internship, making a real difference in young people's lives.
