

Job interview basics

Find out about the employer and job

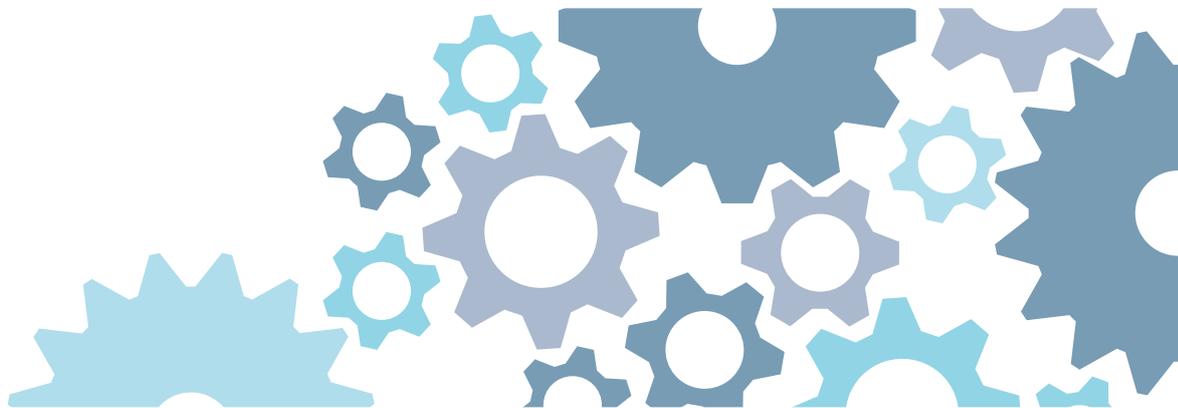

- Look up the employer online. If possible, visit their business. Find out what they do and their business goals and achievements.
- Use this information to work out what type of worker the employer wants. Then think about what you have to offer the business.
- Think about how you could answer the question 'Why do you want to work here?'

Arrange transport and be on time

- Think about how you will get to the interview. Check bus or train timetables, travelling time and where to park. If you are driving, drive there a day or two before so you know how long it takes.
- Put the employer's contact details in your phone. That means you can call them if you get stuck in traffic on the day.
- Allow plenty of time to get there. You should arrive at the interview 10 minutes before it starts.

Practise your answers to interview questions

- Be ready to talk about your past jobs. For example, things you liked or found difficult and why you left.
- Think of some examples of times you did well at work and got a good outcome for your employer.
- If you are interviewing for your first job, think of times you used work relevant skills in a non-work environment. For example, through school, sports or volunteer activities.
- Write out your answers to common interview questions in dot points.
- Build your confidence by practising out loud with friends or family.

Think about your personal presentation

- Wear clothes to suit the role. When in doubt, dress up rather than down.
- Organise your outfit in advance.
- Personal presentation includes:
 - your clothing, grooming, hygiene and body language
 - how you speak to, and get along with others
 - how you present yourself on social media.

Make a good impression

- Be polite and confident. Smile and greet everyone you meet. Make a little small talk and listen to what others say.
- Watch your body own language. Good posture projects respect and confidence. Maintain appropriate eye contact and don't fidget.
- Listen carefully and keep your answers relevant to the interview questions.

Follow-up after the interview

- At the end of the interview ask when the employer thinks they will make a decision. Ask for contact details for someone to follow-up with.
- If you don't hear back from the employer within the time they told you, it's okay to give them a call to follow-up.
- Don't give up if you didn't get the job. Ask for feedback on how you did at the interview and what you can improve on next time.

Disclaimer: The content of this tipsheet is intended as general information only and does not replace professional advice. It is derived from a variety of sources and has been prepared without taking into account your individual objectives, situation or needs. You should consider your personal circumstances, and if appropriate, seek independent legal, financial or other professional advice before acting. The Department has endeavoured to ensure the currency and completeness of the information in this tipsheet at the time of publication; however, this information may change over time. Provision of links to external websites are provided for convenience only and should not be construed as an endorsement or approval of the third party service or website by the Department. The Department expressly disclaims any liability caused, whether directly or indirectly, to any person in respect of any action taken on the basis of the content of this tipsheet.